

11th AUGUST 2023

Rural Community Field Experience Chunchnakuppe, Ganapathihalli Village

News Type: General News

Department: Community Health Nursing

RajaRajeswari Medical College & Hospital has adopted Chunchnakuppe RHTC Centre under the Arogya Bandhu schemes its rural Center The health center has its own building with OPD, inpatient facilities, pharmacy, minor OT and injection room etc. We are in the process of upgrading it to a 24×7 health center...

A model of RHTC was made by group 2 members. The model was made using charts and thermocol

Activities of the Department the department provides students teaching regarding field experience and door to door step services in the community which will give more involvement in the community activities and students are gaining skills how to use available recourse and provide care to community population. Students are visiting various places like Akshya patra, water purification center, sewage plant, epidemic hospitals, milk dairy etc. The department lab is equipped with adequate number of models like modern village model, bio-medical waste management model, water purification model, model of PHC etc. which helping student actively participate in learning successfully.

The students are trained in the community areas how to provide services which will help the students gain more knowledge in the field of community areas. In addition to meeting the requirements the students conduct many other programs. We celebrate all national and international health days like population day, world AIDS day, health day, environment day, republic day etc. by conducting through seminars, rally's, health checkups, health education etc.

Physical assessment is done at the home, schools and health care center. ANC, PNC, immunization clinic etc. are also conducted at community levels.